Summary of findings

Overall summary

Inglewood is a residential care home providing care and support to older people. The home also provides care and support to people living with dementia. At the time of inspection, there were 19 people living at the home.

We found the following examples of good practice:

Staff managed infection control well. The service had a portable room sanitiser which was used to deep clean rooms to maintain a clean environment.

Health professionals visiting the home had their temperature taken and were screened for symptoms of Covid-19 prior to entering the home.

The service had identified bedrooms with external doors which would allow a separate entry point for people discharged from hospital.

The service had displayed clear signage to encourage people to regularly sanitise their hands, and to socially distance around the home.

People living at the home were supported to maintain contact with their families via video technology.

Inglewood Residential Care Home

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 25 January 2021 and was announced.
