Summary of findings

Overall summary

Philia Lodge provides accommodation and personal care for up to 20 older people, some of whom are living with dementia. At the time of the inspection 18 people were living there. We found the following examples of good practice:

There was a robust visitor management procedure in place to ensure people were kept safe. Information available about the home's visiting protocols was comprehensive.

Staff facilitated numerous ways that people could keep in touch with their friends and relatives including window visits, garden visits, screened visits and face to face visits with one nominated person. There were seven computer tablets available for people to use within the home.

People's health was monitored closely to ensure any signs of Covid-19 infection were identified quickly.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to the coronavirus pandemic we are looking at the preparedness of care homes in relation to infection prevention and control. This was a targeted inspection looking at the infection control and prevention measures the provider has in place.

This inspection took place on 1 April 2021 and was announced.
