Summary of findings

Overall summary

Ashton Grange Residential Care Home is a 'care home.' The service provides accommodation for up to 39 people with personal care needs. Some people were living with dementia. On the day of our inspection, 34 people lived at the service.

We found the following examples of good practice.

Staff used PPE correctly to help prevent the spread of infection. The home was clean and enhanced cleaning was taking place during the outbreak, this included regular cleaning of frequent touchpoints.

Visitors were screened before entering the home and were asked to wear appropriate PPE.

People were supported to maintain contact with relatives and staff were providing additional activities to engage people who were self-isolating.

We were assured that this service met good infection prevention and control guidelines.

Detailed findings

Background to this inspection

We carried out this inspection under Section 60 of the Health and Social Care Act 2008 as part of our regulatory functions. This inspection was planned to check whether the provider is meeting the legal requirements and regulations associated with the Health and Social Care Act 2008.

As part of CQC's response to care homes with outbreaks of COVID-19, we are conducting reviews to ensure that the Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) practice is safe and that services are compliant with IPC measures. This was a targeted inspection looking at the IPC practices the provider has in place. We also asked the provider about any staffing pressures the service was experiencing and whether this was having an impact on the service.

This inspection took place on 13 January 2022 and was announced. We gave the service notice on the day of the inspection.
